

Sarah Ashley and her husband Ryan have two kids, Abbie (8) and Jack (6) and have been members of Westminster since 2016. Their children are also graduates of WSYC and are now at Ensworth. Sarah Ashley grew up in Nashville practicing the reform Jewish faith. She went to Ensworth then on to Harpeth hall before attending Parsons School of Design in New York for architecture and interior design. She now is a residential interior designer with her own studio (Ashley Rohe Home). Her volunteer background began as a young adult in Nashville's Junior League before having children then recently completed serving on the board at WSYC and has helped lead the young families group during the Sunday school hour.