

A Westminster member since 2000, Virginia Reynolds most recently has served as an usher, on the Joy in Learning Communications Committee, and as a board member for Westminster Home Connection. A Nashville native, she earned her undergraduate degree from the University of Evansville (U-E!) in Indiana and a master's from Emerson College in Boston (Go Sox!). Virginia is the Director of Marketing and Communications for Latitude, a national legal services company. Outside of this, she enjoys spending time with family and attending Vanderbilt games, preferably at the same time.